

Everyone deserves kindness and fairness

People are different in many ways.

Some people are tall, some are short.

Some people have curly hair, some people have straight hair.

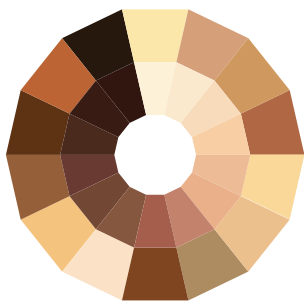

Some people have green eyes, or brown eyes, or blue eyes.

Not everyone looks like me.
I don't look the same as anyone else.

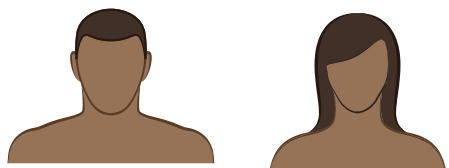

We might look different from each other, and that is good.
It's how we are made.

People have different skin tones too.

Some people have white skin.

Some people have brown skin.

Some people have very dark skin.

Some people have skin with different shades.

There are many different skin tones,
and that is good.
It's how we are made.

Some people treat others differently
because of how they look.

Some people are mean to others
because of how they look.

Some people are mean to others
because of the color of their skin.

Some people are not fair to others
because of the color of their skin.

This is not ok. This is not kind.
Everyone is a person.

Everyone should be treated with kindness and fairness.

Fold page here to follow along