

Texts From People I Don't Know

Texting people is a great way to stay in touch! I like to text my family and friends.

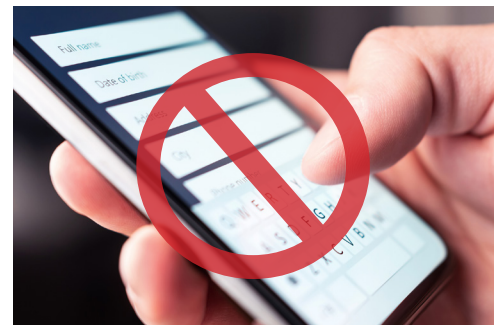

Sometimes I get a text from a number I don't know. When this happens, it may be a scam.

A scam means that someone is not telling the truth. The person may be trying to get information from me.

If I get a text from someone I don't know, I should not reply. I will not click on any links in texts from people I don't know.

I will not give my personal information. This includes my name, birthday, address, social security number and bank information.

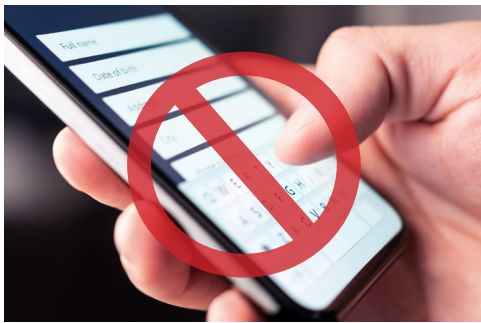

This text is from a stranger. I can block the person. Then they won't be able to text me again.
