

What is racism?

People are different in many ways.
Not everyone looks like me.

I don't look the same as anyone else.

We might look different from each other,
and that is good.

It's how we are made.

Some people treat others differently
because of how they look.

But some people are mean to others
because of the color of their skin.

Some people are not fair to others
because of the color of their skin.

It is never ok for this to happen.

This is called racism.

If racism happens to me, I will tell a trusted adult right away.

This might be my parent, a family member, or a teacher.

If I am not sure why someone was mean to me, I will tell a trusted adult right away.

They can help me figure it out.

We are all different people, and that is good.

I am wonderful and important.

I am a person.

I should always be treated with kindness and fairness.
